INTRODUCTION

ETSSW is an inclusive, equality-based school operating under the patronage of Educate Together. Educate Together schools are co-educational, democratically run, child-centred and equality-based. ETSSW strives to create a safe and happy school environment promoting inclusion, honesty, dignity and respect. The quality of relationships between teachers and students is a powerful influence on behaviour in a school. In ETSS we seek to build positive relationships across the school community to provide a safe and happy learning environment where all students can thrive. We expect students to make a positive impact on the school and local community and we consider positive behaviour to be essential to a student's growth and development as a young person. We want to inspire all of our students to pursue excellence both academically and in the interests they follow. The Code of Behaviour for ETSS Wicklow is centred on Restorative Principles whereby students take responsibility for their actions and aim to respond to experiences in a positive fashion.

The mission statement of ETSSW is:

We are a school that fosters diversity and democracy, where students grow as independent thinkers and lifelong learners, as citizens promoting dignity and fairness for all.

PRINCIPLES OF NATURAL JUSTICE

ETSS Wicklow is required by law to follow fair procedures - this Code of Behaviour has been drawn up with reference to the Tusla Guidelines and according to the principles of natural justice:

In the case of investigations into alleged breaches of the Code, every student will have:

- (a) The right to be heard- this includes the right to know the allegations being made and any other information being taken into account. The student has the right to respond to allegations. When the possible sanction is serious, the student has the right to be heard by the decision-making body.
- (b) The right to impartiality: Freedom from bias entails ensuring that a person with interest in the matter is not involved in the investigation or decision-making. An impartial process allows a decision based on an unbiased evaluation of information and evidence. If a person has preconceived opinions, a vested interest or personal involvement in the matter, they should not attempt to settle it.

ETSSW encourages good relationships between staff and students. Teachers bring their professional abilities as teachers and classroom managers to:

- build positive relationships with students
- promote learning and positive behaviour within the school community

Breaches of discipline such as hindering teaching and learning, failure to do homework, not bringing in the right resources and arriving late for class are dealt with by the teacher in the first instance.

In dealing with such issues, the teacher may employ strategies from the following range of options:

- A plan of measures in place to work through problems informally (e.g. informal discussions, explaining class rules, changes to seating plans, setting targets, warnings);
- Provide opportunities to make amends through extra work or school duties at lunchtime/ before/ after school;

The Class Tutor is usually the person who knows a particular class group best. They meet their class every morning and support the group in developing good organisational skills and facilitating theme week activities. They monitor their students' progress, build positive relationships with each student and employ a restorative approach to resolve conflicts and difficulties. They will consult with subject teachers to alleviate any source of difficulty. If the class Tutor has any concerns, they will take them to the appropriate Student Support Co-ordinators.

Section 8.0: Expulsion

- Expulsion (Permanent Exclusion) is a sanction reserved for the most extreme cases of indiscipline or misbehaviour;

- Expulsion is the ultimate sanction available to the school. The grounds for expulsion may be similar to the grounds for suspension. Important factors are the degree of seriousness of a particular incident or the persistence of a behaviour, or failure on the part of the student to change a behaviour following other interventions. Other considerations are the effect on other members of the school community and/or the good name of ETSS Wicklow;
- Extreme cases of unacceptable behaviour include (this is not an exhaustive list):

(e) A single extremely serious breach of the Code of Behaviour - expulsion may be recommended in the event of such behaviours as listed below:

- Violence or assault against a member of members of the school community (the school reserves the right to contact An Garda Síochána in cases of infringement against the law of the land);
- A serious threat of violence against a student or students or member(s) of staff (the school reserves the right to contact An Garda Síochána in cases of infringement against the law of the land);
- Possession, consumption and/or supply of alcohol and/or illegal drugs on the school premises or during school-related activities/excursions (the school reserves the right to contact An Garda Síochána in cases of infringement against the law of the land);
- Behaviour inside the school grounds and/or outside the school grounds that brings the name of the school into disrepute (e.g. behaviour while going to or from school, on school tours or during activities outside the school, in the use of technology inside and outside school hours);
- Disregard of the Code of Behaviour to the point of bringing it into disrepute;

Section 8.1: Expulsion Procedures

1. A detailed investigation will be carried out under the direction of the school management;
2. Parents/guardians will be informed in writing that the alleged misbehaviour could result in expulsion;
3. Both parents/guardians and students will be given the opportunity to respond;
4. Where expulsion may result from an investigation, a meeting with the student and their parents/guardians will be arranged to allow them to give their side and ask questions, especially where there is a dispute about the facts. It may also be an opportunity for parents/guardians to make their case for modifying the sanction, and for the school to explore with parents/guardians how best to address the student's behaviour;
5. If parents/guardians and the student fail to attend a meeting, the principal will write advising them of the gravity of the matter and reschedule the meeting - if this plan does not work out, the family will be informed that the school authorities have to make a decision in response to the inappropriate behaviour;
